1. The Flying School for Officers at Deblin is wholly and exclusively in Soviet hands. The CO of the school is reported to be General Smaga, a Soviet officer, who as far back as 1944 was the first "Polish" commandant of the flying school at Zemoso.

- 2. The school trains pilots and observers. The students are definitely anti-Soviet (sio; F-5) and no Pole is allowed to approach a machine without the assistance of a Russian.
- 3. The instructors are exclusively Soviet and are assisted by interpreters. The planes used for training purposes are of the following types:

UT-2

11.2

U-2

Bouglas and Yak planes.
